

Privacy policy

We at ImPLY® Group are committed to safeguarding your privacy. The purpose of this document is to clarify what information is collected from users at our website www.imply.com and its services - and how that data is manipulated and used.

About collecting data

On our sites, information is collected in the following ways:

Information provided by you - We collect personally identifiable information - such as name, phone number, email address, company you are working in, and position - by completing the contact forms. Eventually, the request for some information may be made through direct contact from ImPLY® with users via email or telephone.

Site navigation information - When you visit our website, a cookie is placed on your browser through the Google Analytics software to identify how many times you return to our address. Anonymously, information such as IP address, geographic location, reference source, type of browser, duration of the visit and pages visited are collected.

Contact History - Here at ImPLY® we store information regarding all contacts already made with our users, such as content accessed from our pages and interactions via e-mail.

About the use of your Personal Information

This term allows ImPLY® to use your personal information for different purposes.

The e-mail is used for the sending the material or information requested by you when completing the form. It can also be used to send Newsletters, always related to ImPLY® products and services. You can unsubscribe at any time.

The download data may be disclosed as research and statistics, and no personal information is disclosed openly unless explicitly authorized.

Employees of ImPLY® may eventually contact you via e-mail or telephone to research or present products and services.

About accessing your personal information

Your personal information may only be viewed by employees of ImPLY®. No personal information may be disclosed publicly.

ImPLY® also undertakes not to sell, rent or pass on its information to third parties. The only exception is in cases where such information is required by law.

In addition, although we work with good security and protection practices, no web service has a 100% guarantee against intrusion and we can not be held liable if it occurs.

About sharing social media content

By clicking on the content sharing buttons on the social networks available on our pages, the user will publish the content through his/her profile on the selected network. ImPLY® does not have access to users' login and password on those networks, nor will it publish content on behalf of the user without him/her performing this action.

About the cancellation of the signature and change / exclusion of personal information

You can choose not to receive any further e-mail from Imply®.

In all the emails that we send there is always a link to cancel the subscription in the last lines. By clicking this link you will automatically be unsubscribed from the list.

It is important to mention that completing any form will again characterize the reinsertion of your email to the list. Therefore, the cancellation request must be made again if you wish.

To change your personal information or even delete it from our database, simply send an email to: marketing@imply.com

Changes to the Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy may be subject to updates. Therefore, we recommend that you periodically visit this page so that you are aware of the changes.

Before using information for purposes other than those defined in this Privacy Policy, we will ask for your authorization.

Contact Imply® for clarification of doubts
